

Hattiesburg Fireman Joe Anderson and Wife Carmon Allegedly Voted Illegally in 2013 Mayoral Election and filed two homestead tax exemptions

JONES COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI
APPLICATION FOR CERTIFICATION OF PROPERTY
AS CLASS 1 FOR TAX PURPOSES

FOR TAX YEAR: 2012 DATE APPLIED: 2/1/2013

OWNER: Anderson Joseph Lee, Carmon Yvette

116 McLane Rd, Hattiesburg MS 39401

013-31-00-005.11 45905

REASON FOR APPLICATION: TRUST - NONE

I do affirm that the property herein described is a single family, owner occupied residence to not used for public, commercial or agricultural purposes. This is my principal residence and I and mine if applicable are the legal and sole owner occupying the property. I understand if applicable do not claim homestead exemption in another Mississippi county or existing state. I do not register any vehicles in another Mississippi county or in another state.

Assessment/Registry Compliance Form
CHECKED BY: Rachio Rogers
DATE: 4/1/2013
APPROVED BY: Carmon Blackledge

CLICK TO ENLARGE Joe Anderson signed a sworn affidavit under penalty of perjury that he resided at his Jones county residence. He received a homestead tax credit for 2012. Anderson and his wife both voted in the election.

Hattiesburg Fireman Joe Anderson, stationed at the Tatum Park precinct, and his wife Carmon Yvette Anderson voted in the exemption, and that must be your primary residence.

Anderson is a fireman at the Tatum road precinct and both he and his wife are not the only people to have voted in the election who didn't live in Hattiesburg. Anderson's wife, Carmen, is the HR Director of the Hattiesburg Public School System.

The Hattiesburg Patriot will release the names and evidence of other voters who were not Hattiesburg residents, and who voted in the election. It is not yet clear if Anderson and his wife voted in the June 4th election, or the May primary. Each instance of illegal voting is potentially another crime.

*UPDATE – Both Joe Anderson and Carmen Anderson pleaded guilty to illegal voting.